Leased Lines Factsheet

Solution IP is a leading telecoms, connectivity and networks services provider, specialising in designing and delivering all-in-one communications technology and network design, management, monitoring, servicing and security. Deployed on award-winning cloud technology and full-fibre networks, everything Solution IP does is underpinned by service guarantees and technical expertise.

Why do I need a leased line?

A leased line is a dedicated broadband connection. Rather than sharing a broadband line with other businesses at your location you rent a single line all to yourself. They're generally used by businesses with high-powered broadband needs.

What are the benefits?

Leased Lines are high-speed, and high-performance. This means the multiple business applications and processes you use on a daily basis will be faster and more efficient. You'll be able to move onto a VoIP system if you want, and do things like video conferencing too.

Our services are provided on a 24/7 support and monitoring basis (where backup connectivity is in place), which means you can relax knowing that your business continuity is resilient.

When you don't share a connection, it only carries data and communications from your company and can reliably support any business applications that are critical to the success of your company.

How does it work?

A Leased Line is a permanent connection between two site locations, or from your premises to the internet network. Upload and download speeds are equal, meaning you can achieve more during a business day. We usually recommend back-up connectivity to maximise the service and make the most of the SLA. We can provide this in the form of ADSL or ADSL2+, a GEA or EFM connection.
